

1 point of view and one with a larger point of view, with 2 whom you could discuss your problems.

3 Now, if you would decide to make the district
4 a multi-member district, the slot system could be adopted
5 to simplify voter problems.

6 I would like to make some general comments.
7 The problems of numbers can be reduced to simple sentence.
8 Excessive size hurts in many ways, visibility of your mem-
9 ber, dignity of the position, the ability to attract
10 top people. Then (b), a companion, compensation that you
11 can pay. One of the problems about fixing compensation
12 of the legislature today is simply that in order to pay a 13 man, a key man in the legislature what he is really entitled 14 to you have to pay the same thing to the member of the 15 House of Delegates who has really very little political 16 power, who may spend a small part of his time in legisla-
17 tive work.

18 By bringing the numbers within a degree of 19 reason you certainly would be able to organize the compen-
20 sation picture a little more logically.

21 The organization would be simplified, the
